Smuggler's treasure

stones
was all I took (ok seaweed too)
from the pot of treasure
- the location marked, bridging solid and sea - by the refraction of light through a million
if not more
spheres.

Andrew Gryf Paterson, 2000.